AFTERSCHOOL SNACK PROGRAM

Many children in South Carolina are hungry or uncertain about whether they will receive the food they need. Children feel, behave, and learn better if they have a wholesome snack between lunch and supper. Who will feed the children after school?

The South Carolina Department of Social Services provides funding through the USDA Afterschool Snack Program to help afterschool programs serve free, healthy snacks to children 18 and younger who are in their care.

BENEFITS FOR CHILDREN

Snacks give children a nutritional boost in the afternoon when they are hungry and trying to study.

Snacks attract children into afterschool programs that are safe, fun, and filled with learning opportunities.

QUALIFYING IS SIMPLE...

Afterschool programs must be sponsored by a public or private non-profit organization
OR

Private for-profit organizations may qualify if at least 25% of enrolled children receive ABC vouchers.

You must operate an afterschool program for school-age children at an "area eligible" site. (Area eligible means located in the attendance area of a school in which at least 50% of the enrolled students qualify for free or reduced-price school meals.)

Your afterschool program must provide educational or enrichment activities such as arts and crafts or homework assistance, in a supervised environment.

Program activities must take place at the end of the school day, on weekends, or on holidays during the school year.

Snacks served to children must meet nutrition guidelines.
