

Each Family Preservation Service (formerly called CPS Treatment Service) represents a family (defined as one or more children in the same household) that is receiving in-home services from SCDSS as a result of a founded CPS investigation. These services are provided in an attempt to improve the well-being of the child(ren) sufficiently so that they do not have to be removed from the home to be placed in foster care.

